Natural beauty and timeless sophistication

Create a flooring design that embodies a sense of sophistication and timeless appeal with the GrandOak Noble Collection.

The perfect choice for using classic timber tones or contemporary hues in your space, the real beauty of engineered European Oak is in the natural variations of colour, grain and knots.

The authentic look and feel of the GrandOak Noble Collection is achieved by carefully brushing the surface of the boards, accentuating their natural oak grain texture. Our handcrafting artists use a specialised process to ensure each board is unique in both appearance and texture.

Setting a high standard for excellence, each board has been manufactured to be exactly 1900mm with no short boards. Along with creating a sense of spaciousness, these full length boards will provide a modern, high-end finish to your room.

Matching stair nosing and scotia will complete your flooring design, creating a seamless designer look to your space.

It's these elements combined, that showcases the superior quality and distinction the Noble Collection is renowned for.

A truly 'Grand' experience

Providing a sense of warmth and sophistication to every room it adorns, the Regal Collection delivers a truly 'Grand' experience.

Embodying the beauty and class of the GrandOak Range, these handcrafted timber engineered boards with striking wood grain variations, effortlessly create high-end designer appeal.

Featuring seven stylish hues from classic and contemporary to rich earthy tones, the GrandOak Regal Collection has a colour choice to suit every interior space.

Extra wide 220mm boards deliver a smooth, flowing finish. Wider boards provide increased coverage, therefore fewer planks are required. If you're seeking to achieve a sense of spaciousness in a smaller living area, Regal is the answer.

GrandOak engineered boards - constructed for life

With increased demand in today's market for wider and longer boards, the need for stability in the construction of engineered floorboards is continuously evolving.

Stability is a key element in the design process of engineered flooring. This is to ensure production of a floor that is less likely to cup, twist or bow when affected by environmental extremes in temperature and humidity.

GrandOak uses the proven superior method of a multi-ply cross core. This unique assembling method creates a product more stable than that of a 3-ply construction. Multi-ply construction is made up of multiple thin hardwood sheets that are arranged, glued and pressed with the grain running at right angles to the adjacent sheet. A premium quality multi-ply core is paramount to ensuring the longevity of your engineered timber floor.

Tongue and Groove joining system - the ideal installation choice

Renowned over many years for its superior performance and minimal concerns during the installation process, it's no surprise the Tongue & Groove joining system is the preferred choice of most builders and floor installers.

With the option of using either the 'Glue Down Method' or the 'Floating Floor Method', a Tongue & Groove joining system is the ideal installation choice.

Glue Down - Installation Method:

- Compared to other joining systems, T&G is more straightforward and efficient for glue down installations, delivering a perfectly solid feel with no movement (subject to levelling first where required). Adhesive is applied by a professional directly beneath the boards, ensuring a stable and long-lasting finish.

Floating Floor - Installation Method:

- Where the floating floor method is preferred, the T&G joining system requires a cross-linking PVA adhesive to be applied between the boards. This secure bond minimises any potential creaking or squeaking and ensures the joining system remains tight over time. The result is a secure, resilient floor that delivers lasting elegance and performance.

It's always best to confirm which method of installation suits your subfloor with a professional installer, however the T&G joining system makes it a versatile option in any home.

Surpassing every expectation

Inspired by century-old styling, the unique pattern of the GrandOak Chevron Collection will provide a stylish, modern aesthetic designed to exceed every expectation.

Dating back to the Renaissance period, Chevron parquetry is known for its 'V' shape pattern, also known as Hungarian point. It consists of wood planks cut at a 45-degree angle and positioned in a distinctive pattern that must be aligned impeccably for a perfectly straight axis. Parquetry requires specialised skills for installation. With its repeated geometrical pattern, this style has been featured in many European palaces and chateaux.

With five stunning colours to choose from, the GrandOak Chevron Collection will add a contemporary provincial style to your interior space.

Beautifully finished with a matte UV lacquer, the pre-finished 900mm x 150mm x 14.5mm T&G boards are styled with both left and right tongues.

Installation by full trowel glue down is required. For more information, please refer to the GrandOak Chevron Installation Instructions on our website.
